WALL LIGHTS

About Tom Rossau

TOM ROSSAU WAS BORN in Odsherred Denmark, famous for its curvaceous landscape and the light on the north-western coastline, which has attracted artists for centuries. The sculptural qualities of his native soil are part of his DNA and resonate in his design philosophy. Tom's work is driven by the intriguing relationship between geometry, materials, and natural and artificial light. To him, the essence of a lamp lies in its transformation when switched on; the design must hold its own in natural daylight, but the real magic happens when the shape and material is lit from within. A self-proclaimed light addict, Tom feels compelled to turn on the lights when entering a room, and is ever amazed by how atmospheres and objects are completely altered at the flick of a switch.

Handbuilt collection

THE AMBITION of the Tom Rossau collection is to create a correspondence between haptic and optic perception, to let the eye and the hand experience the object cohesively. Tactile materials such as wood, paper, and metals allow for this. Their haptic qualities – fibres and grains – are enhanced to the eye when held against the light. Using strips as the key element, the silhouette of a lamp changes with the material; the strip intersection emits the most intense light in the case of metal, but generates a point of shadow in wood or paper. It is the material properties, the look, the feel, and the flexibility, that inform the design process and ultimately dictate the hand-built production.
